FIND IRON BAR IN PRISON CELL

Liverpool Man Also Is Suspicious of Having Part In Plot

Salem, Feb. 26.—An attempted escape from the Columbiana county jail was nipped in the bud by Sheriff William J. Barlow, when James Kelly, Lima bandit who was sentenced to serve from 15 to 25 years in the Ohio penitentiary, was rushed from the jail to that institution by Deputies Gomer Lewis and George Harroff.

William Mullen of East Liverpool was also implicated in the attempt, according to Sheriff Barlow.

The Columbiana sheriff became suspicious Friday when he noticed footprints in the snow outside of the cell occupied by Kelly. He did not voice his suspicions but conducted a waiting policy in order to allow those involved to further implicate themselves, a Lisbon report states.

Find Bar In Cell

An iron bar was found in the cell of Kelly and the floor about a vent pipe had been punched. Bits of plaster falling into the cell below the report states.

Mullen was taken before Judge W. F. Lones this morning and sentenced to the Ohio penitentiary to from 12 to 25 years.

Mullen was convicted for robbing a Standard Oil filling station at East Liverpool late in December and also early in January.

It had been the intention of the court to give Mullen a minimum sentence of 10 years but when the court was informed that he had been implicated in an attempted jail delivery two years was added to the minimum. Mullen was kept in the county jail last night.

Walter Mellinger of Salem, indicted with George McCave, was sentenced to from one to 15 years in the Ohio penitentiary. Mellinger entered a plea of guilty to the indictment against him and was the star witness for the state during the two trials of McCave.

DONOVAN NAMED WAR SECRETARY

Washington Has Rumor That Hoover Has Made Choice

Washington, Feb. 26.—Col. William J. Donovan of New York, now assistant attorney general, is to be secretary of war in the Hoover cabinet.

The post has been offered him and he has accepted, it was learned authoritatively today.

This automatically ends all speculation concerning Col. Donovan for the attorney generalship and leaves President-Elect Hoover free to continue his quest of a head for the department of justice who is "a constitutional dry."

Col. Donovan returned to Washington unexpectedly yesterday from New Mexico, where he has been for some week acting as the president's representative at the seven-state conference on the Colorado river dispute. He was summoned to the capital by Mr. Hoover.

It is understood that Mr. Donovan is determined upon the appointment of an attorney general who can be classed unquestionably as a constitutional dry, and that such being the case he was unable to offer him the post. Donovan, while personally dry, is not an admirer of the Volstead law. He comes from that wing of New York Republicanism that has been classed as wet.

The Hoover plan is to transfer prohibition enforcement from the treasury to the department of justice, and that necessitates, in Mr. Hoover's opinion, the appointment of an Attorney-general who can be classed unquestionably as being unfriendly to the law he is to enforce. One of the embarrassments of the Coolidge administration has been the constant criticism from professional prohibitionists that enforcement of the law was in the hands of Secretary Mellon, "a former distiller."

DRY CONTROVERSY DRAWS ATTENTION

Radio Commission's Life Also Before Senate; Debate Bills

Washington, Feb. 26.—The seventh congress edged toward adjournment today with dozen major problems still awaiting solution.

Presidential appointments, the house reapportionment bill, the $24,000,000 dry fund controversy and the proposal to extend the life of the federal radio commission all were pending in the senate. The house had its prohibition problem, the Jones bill creating a new maximum imprisonment and a $10,000 fine for bootleggers being its chief obstacle to a peaceful adjournment.

The nominations of Ex-Senator Irvine L. Lenroot of Wisconsin, to the U. S. court of customs appeals, and of Henry H. Glasie of Louisiana, to the District of Columbia supreme court, will be voted upon late this afternoon by the senate judiciary committee. If favorably reported, the fight over the nominations will be transferred to the floor of the senate. Confirmation of either appointee appeared unlikely due to widespread opposition in the senate.

A similar fate apparently awaited Cyril N. Jansky, Jr., of Minnesota, named to the radio commission.

The house reapportionment bill was debated for several hours at a special session last night, but without reaching a final vote.

The $24,000,000 dry fund battle will revolve around senate action on the second deficiency appropriation. The senate added this sum to the first deficiency bill which died in conference, when the house refused to vote upon the appropriation. Another controversy was pending over a proposal to make all income tax refunds public, the house having rejected an amendment added to the first deficiency bill by the senate.

The Dill resolution, extending the life of the radio commission for one more year, also faced filibustering opposition. Senator Watson of Indiana, chairman of the senate interstate commerce committee, announced though he would ask for the senate to invoke cloture in order to force a vote on it before adjournment.

After and if these matters are disposed of, the senate will be asked to enact the Jones bill, providing for the decennial census of 1930. The bill would authorize a $40,000,000 appropriation to pay the expenses of the census. If not enacted, there will be no census in 1930.

Administration leaders, however, planned to hold night sessions throughout the week in an effort to complete the legislative program. If cloture should be involved and all night sessions held, the program probably would be enacted—otherwise, hundreds of bills, including many important measures, undoubtedly will die in the legislative jam accompanying the adjournment next Monday.

Backward Nation Finds New Life When Tire Mogul Acts

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
Miami Beach, Fla., Feb. 26.—An American tire magnate, seeking to break the British rubber monopoly and produce an independent rubber supply, has transformed Liberia, a backward country in West Africa, into a modern, progressive nation with a real future.

The story of this remarkable achievement, one of the biggest industrial developments ever undertaken, was told to the writer today by Harvey S. Firestone, the man who did it. He is president of the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., which has factories at Akron, O., Los Angeles, Hudson, Mass., Hamilton, Ont., and Brentford Eng. He has preparation mills at Fall River and New Bedford, Mass., and at Singapore and great plantations in Liberia.

"There wasn't a bath tub nor an electric light in Liberia a few years ago," said Mr. Firestone. "There was only one automobile in the country, owned by the president, and it wouldn't run. The little independent negro republic was very backward and becoming more so."

"Today there are between 18,000 and 20,000 men on our payrolls in Liberia. Roads have been built through jungle country. A power plant has been erected and stores put up. Many automobiles are in operation there. We have a radio plant at Du river plantation which communicates directly with main factory at Akron, O., 5,000 miles away."

"The people of Liberia are now

"Mystery Woman" Regains Memory as Query Breaks Spell

Cleveland, Feb. 26.—The cloak of amnesia which has shrouded the mind of Mrs. Harriet Bailey, of Erie, Pa., for the last two weeks, shutting out all recollections of her past life, had been thrown off today through a simple, random question.

Since she was found wandering the streets here, Mrs. Bailey has remained a "mystery woman" at Charity hospital. Though normal in other respects she had no remembrance of her identity or her past.

"Who is Lindbergh?" she inquired, on reading a newspaper account of the famous colonel's engagement. A handbag which the "mystery woman" carried contained the initials "H. B. She repeated the names, "Charles" and "Alice" several times. These were the only clues.

"Is your name Helen?" Police-woman Rose Laskowski asked her last night.

"No, not Helen."

"Is it Harriet?"

The "mystery woman's" hand went to her forehead and there was a sudden gleam in her eyes as she sat up in bed.

"That's it, that's it," she cried. "I'm Harriet Bailey and I live at 625 Holland st., Erie, Pa."

The name "Charles" was that of her husband, who is dead, while "Alice" is a niece. Hospital authorities wired T. C. Sherman, of Albion, Pa., Mrs. Bailey's nephew, to come after her. She was apparently fully recovered today.

Safety Director Hands Resignation

Newark, O., Feb. 26.—E. A. Bryan today tendered his resignation as safety director to Mayor Robbins Hunter. It is to take effect immediately, Bryan says. Personal business demands his full attention, he declared. Bryan is a former sheriff of this county.

Mr. Firestone, seated in his private study in his tropical estate here explained how in 1922 Great Britain restricted the rubber growing area in the East Indies and caused the price of rubber to jump to $1.23 a pound in America.

So Firestone determined to fight this monopoly by finding a place where an independent supply of rubber could be produced for America. He finally decided on Liberia, undertook the development of the country and today rubber is selling in this country for around 25 cents a pound.

"I had four men go all over the world to find the right place," said the American rubber magnate.

THIRTY-ONE DIE AS STORMS HIT SMALL TOWNS

21 Bodies Found After Cyclone Passes Over Duncan, Miss.

DEATH TOLL WILL GROW, REPORT SAYS

Militiamen Patrol Areas Stricken; Wires Are Down

A series of tornadoes, cutting across the southern part of the country yesterday, claimed a known toll of 31 dead, scores injured, and an untold property damage.

The greatest damage was wreaked at Duncan, Miss., where early today 21 bodies had been recovered from the debris that covered the stricken waterless and lightless city, patrolled by militiamen.

The twister struck two other towns in Mississippi. At Alligator, six miles away two persons were killed and five injured. At Marks, Miss., in the same area, two other lives were claimed.

Two persons were killed at Van, Ark., two at Grand Prairie, Texas, and two at Cooper, Texas, by twisters earlier in the day.

Indications that the death toll would mount steadily were adduced from Mississippi reports which said many of the 50 or more injured at Duncan may die, and that all the debris had not yet been searched for other bodies.

Reports indicated that the storm had struck several rural communities in Mississippi, from which no definite news has been received because of crippled telegraph communication.

Duncan, Miss., Feb. 26.—Twenty-one persons dead, 50 or more injured, and an unestimated property damage that will run into thousands was the known toll today of a cyclone which late yesterday virtually wiped this little town off the map.

By the flare of torchlights, volunteer workmen searched the debris of the devastated sections during the night for the bodies of the dead and with the first rays of dawn, 21 sheet covered victims lay in the temporary morgue.

All of the seriously injured were being taken to hospitals in nearby cities. Many of them, it was believed, were so horribly mangled that they will not recover. Physicians and nurses, rushed here when first news of the disaster was received, administered first aid treatment.

Rain which followed in the wake of the storm continued all night. The village was without light or water, the public utilities plants having been demolished by the twister along with dozens of other buildings and residences.

DUAL TRAGEDY STIRS VILLAGE

Man Shoots Wife, Then Turns Gun On Self; Twelve-Year Girl Witnesses Shooting

Brookfield, O., Feb. 26.—A dual tragedy today rocked the serenity of this little village.

John Parkas, 45, shot and killed his wife here yesterday and then turned the gun on himself, sustaining fatal wounds.

A neighbor girl, Elizabeth Sabo, 12, witnessed the shooting.

The Parkases are the parents of five children. None of them, however, witnessed the episode, as they were at school.

Two days of quarreling culminated in the shooting, neighbors said. Brookfield is in Ohio just across the line from Sharon, Pa.

happy and looking to the future. We actually saved that country. We even negotiated a $5,000,000 loan through New York bankers for the country."

The conference will open at 10:30 a. m. with registration of delegates. Prof. C. W. Plessinger, superintendent of Montgomery county schools, will give the opening address on "The Rural Child."

Mrs. Earl F. Eakin, director of East District, will preside at the afternoon session, which opens at 1:30 o'clock.

The address of welcome will be by Mrs. W. B. Moore, president of the Lisbon Parent-Teacher association. The response and introduction of state officers will be by Mrs. C. E. Kendel, president of Ohio Parent-Teacher association.

Mrs. Ethel Peters Simon, extension secretary, state department of education, will conduct the round table.

Each association in the East District will be given two minutes for reports.

Dinner will be served at 6 o'clock in the gymnasium of the High school.

The driver of the second truck, which had several trailers attached, was slightly injured. He was Donald D. Card, 30, of Detroit.

The crash occurred shortly after midnight. According to Card, a large sedan careened into his auto, throwing a trailer over the produce truck driven by the youths. It immediately burst into flames.

The driver of the sedan fled, Card said. The sheriff was notified and a hunt was in progress today.

When the blaze was extinguished, a gruesome sight greeted firemen. The driver was sitting upright behind the wheel, his body charred and blackened beyond recognition. The other victim was sprawled across the knees of the driver in a posture which indicated that he was trying to shield his face from the flames. The bodies remained unidentified for several hours.

Surviving are two children, Frank Beacham and Miss Bessie Beacham of Alliance; one sister and three brothers, Uriah, William and Walter Beacham and Mrs. George Pickering, Plymouth, Pa. His wife, Mrs. Mary Oyster Beacham died several years ago.

Funeral service will be held at 2:30 p. m. Thursday at the Casaday & Turkle funeral home; interment in Mt. Union cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home 7 to 9 p. m. Wednesday.

They tapped trees and investigated conditions all over the Far East. Finally, upon the advice of my son, Harvey S. Firestone, Jr., we decided that Liberia was the place, and in December, 1925, we obtained a million acre concession from Liberia for the planting of rubber trees, Harvey made the deal.

"We have cleared 50,000 acres and have planted 30,000 acres. All told about 6,000,000 trees have been planted."

"Our going into Liberia has saved that country which is more or less a protectorate of the United States as it was established by a New England Colonization company for freed slaves."

RIVERS LEAVING BANKS TO COVER OHIO LOWLANDS

Factories Forced to Stop Operations As Water Rise Continues

BRIDGES TOPPLE IN PATH OF CURRENT

Towns In Many Parts Of State Reporting Situation Acute

With many people unable to occupy their homes—highways flooded—traffic impeded and impossible, in some places—and with flood warnings issued from Coshocton, Circleville, Chillicothe, Delaware and Larue, Central Ohio today faced serious flood danger and damage with a possible re-occurrence of the 1913 floods in some sections.

Springfield experienced the greatest damage as a result of the torrential rains last night and early this morning. Residents of lowlands there were compelled to flee from their homes. City streets were overflowed with three feet of water. Factories were put out of commission, due to flooded basements. Breaking of a water main caused a temporary cessation of the water

Driven From Homes

Terror stricken residents were taken from partially-inundated homes in a suburb of Hamilton.

Washouts caused the suspension of traction services in scattered sections of Central Ohio.

The downpour in Columbus amounted to 2.6 inches. Many a would-be motorist had to resort to the street car this morning, finding the water in the street where he had left his car last night was so deep the machine couldn't be moved under its own power.

Several families were marooned near Toledo when the Sibley creek poured from its banks.

Other sections in the northern part of the state reported no flood danger.

Ohio River Quiet

Ohio river conditions from East Liverpool to Cincinnati caused no alarm, but observers were keeping a "weather-eye" open. Colder weather, which would freeze the feeding streams, is prayed for.

The Scioto river inundated lowlands near Larue and played havoc along its course through Central Ohio. Circleville was cut off and the river at this point is expected to go three feet above flood stage before nightfall. A temporary highway (Continued on Page 5)

COURT TOURNEY FINDS DISFAVOR

High School Event At Chicago May Die Out With Attitude Of School Heads

Cleveland, Feb. 26.—The end of the annual national high school basketball tournaments at Chicago was predicted here today as a result of an amendment adopted by the National Federation of High School Athletic associations, which stated that no tournaments shall be held unless sponsored by a majority of the state athletic associations.

Disapproval of all tournaments which compel teams to travel long distances and be away from school was expressed by the delegates. The vote on the subject was 29 to 2, only delegates from Utah and North Dakota opposing the amendment.

The Chicago tournament, scheduled for April of this year, will go on as usual but since the federation has removed its sanction and, in fact, expressed disapproval, it is believed that this year's event will be the last of the great, national high school cage meets.

DWINDLING PASSENGER BUSINESS

The recent announcement that the average citizen of the United States makes fewer railway journeys than he did forty years ago—approximately only six annually—doesn't mean so much, and cannot be held to be at all surprising. As a matter of fact, it is rather surprising that the average is that high considering the way in which the automobile has cut into the railway business especially in short trips. With an automobile for every five persons in the United States, it's something of a wonder that the railroads do the short-haul business that they do. When a man can get into his car and travel fifteen or twenty miles in about the time it takes him to go to the station in his home city and go from the station of the city of his destination, he naturally will take to his automobile as a time-saver, if for no other consideration.

But there is food for thought that, despite the marked yearly increase in population, there is a steady decrease in the number of passengers carried by the railroads and a decrease almost as pronounced in the number of miles passengers are carried by the railroads.

Statistics at hand show that the railroads of the United States carried 788,000,000 passengers in 1920, the passenger miles being 31,635,000,000. The year before they carried 840,029,680 with a total of 33,797,754,000 passenger miles, and the year before that, 1918, the number of passengers carried was 874,588,786 over 35,672,729,000 passenger miles.

How really great the decrease in the passenger business of the railroads of the country has been will be more readily appreciated by comparing the business done by them last year with the business done ten years previously. In 1918, when the population of the United States was but 104,000,000, the railroads carried 1,122,962,387 passengers 43,212,458,000 passenger miles against 788,000,000 passengers carried 31,635,000,000 passenger miles last year when the estimated population was 120,013,000. As a matter of fact the railroads carried more passengers twenty years ago, when the estimated population was 91,972,266, than they did last year or that they do today, the record being 809,009,574 passengers carried in 1908.

While the chief reason for the mighty decrease in railroad passenger business is, of course, the automobile, a contributing factor in the loss of business by the railroad passenger service has been the wretched equipment the railroads have provided for the transportation of their patrons. Until very recent years the rule has been that about the only decent equipment has been that on the fast and special fare trains, and some of that hasn't been any too good. The railroads, however, are learning, and, in an effort to regain some of their lost passenger business, are greatly improving their trains, in some instances equipment being offered patrons without extra charge greatly superior to that which was formerly run on extra fare trains.

What Others Say

LEAGUE WOULD BE A NATION

The settlement of the controversy between the Vatican and the Quirinal was received by the League of Nations in Geneva as "a happy augury," for its own efforts to obtain an enlargement of extraterritorial jurisdiction. The league occupies a palace in Geneva; but it has no title to the ground on which the palace stands. A garden adjoins the palace; but league officials must observe the keep-off-the-grass signs erected by the civic authority.

What the league has been trying for some time to get is an extraterritorial enclave, with room enough for tennis courts, a wireless station and an airport. The Swiss government has demurred to all requests for such a concession. As a result of the murder of a socialist official on Swiss soil some years ago, Switzerland was let in for a disagreeable diplomatic incident, which it does not wish repeated. The league seems to see a parallel between the situation in Rome and that in Geneva; but Bern can't and it is difficult to see how the rest of the world can.

The personnel of the League of Nations are merely representatives of the member nations, Switzerland included. They are welcome in Geneva, apparently. There does not seem to be any sound reason why they can not function as efficiently on the friendly soil of Switzerland as on soil of their own. The desire of the league to obtain a territorial home for itself merely strengthens the suspicion that it regards itself as a superstate. The next thing it will want is an army and navy.

Why it needs the attributes of sovereignty is not clear; but, if it must have them, why doesn't it buy an island in the ocean? Switzerland's hospitality is poorly requited by trying to force extraterritoriality upon any part of Swiss territory.—Detroit Free Press.

DR. COPELAND HOLDSBY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
(United States Senator from New York)

In Washington a few weeks ago, one of the great figures in medicine died. Dr. Joseph Goldberger did much to benefit the human race. He studied yellow fever, typhus, measles and dengue fever. But his monumental work was in connection with pellagra.

As a result of this great doctor's work, cause and cure of pellagra were found. But more than this, his research shed new light on the science of human diet. The knowledge of many things in medicine was widened by this man's efforts.

What Dr. Goldberger did, was to remove pellagra from the long list of mysterious things. He has left us, but his efforts for humanity will survive forever.

The name given the disease have mentioned is from two words—"pellis," meaning the "skin," and "agra," meaning "catching." These were united into the odd name, "pellagra."

It is due to disturbed nutrition. The most conspicuous symptom is the puffy swelling of the skin. It begins on the back of the hands, looking not unlike severe sunburn. Later, the feet, neck and forehead may be involved.

There may be blisters over the inflamed surfaces. The skin grows darker in color and much thickened for a time. Then it begins to shrivel up and peel.

Other early symptoms are disturbances of digestion. Ulcers of the mouth, sickness at the stomach and vomiting are observed. Painful diarrhoea is another sign.

The third center of attack is the nervous system. At first there may be headache and dizziness. Weakness, inability to think clearly, terrible depression of spirits and finally a form of insanity, this is the course of the disease.

You can see that it is a distressing and, until its cause was found, a pretty hopeless ailment. That is why Dr. Goldberger's work is so important.

It took this good man fourteen years of hard and dangerous work to solve this problem. It was important to find a cure because large sections of the South were afflicted. It had flourished there since the time of the war between the States. For a long time it was thought that the disease came from eating spoiled corn. Goldberger's research disproved this and determined that the symptoms are the result of a lack in the diet, the absence of what he called "P. P."—pellagra preventive. In short, the ailment is what we call a "deficiency disease."

Pellagra follows a diet of cornmeal, polished rice, white flour, molasses, sugar, fat pork, turnip greens, sweet potatoes and coffee. The diet you see is largely sugar and starch and lacking in protein.

It is the conclusion of students of this disease, including Goldberger, that protein foods must be given. Milk, meat, eggs and vegetables are important.

We are thankful for Dr. Goldberger's gift to the race. We mourn his untimely death. His fifty-three years were crowded with good works. He earned his crown.

Things To Know About Our Service

The Evolution of Light

THIRTY thousand years ago the Stone Age man learned first how to conquer the darkness of his cave by fire . . . and then that a fish or a bird wrapped in fibrous material made a good torch. When he found that the dripping fat from this also burned, he had invented the first oil lamp.

Later, light became symbolic of power to the Egyptians, and so it was they who added beauty to their oil and charcoal lamps. Greece contributed carved marble and bronze lamp tripods, while Rome brought ornate bronze grill work and brilliant color to lighting fittings. Candle light is first heralded in the Bible, but the Renaissance developed it to an elaborate stage with gorgeous crystal chandeliers and intricately wrought candelabra.

The burning knot of pitch pine, the whale oil lamp, the kerosene lamp and the gas burner have all done service in the illumination of American homes, and each has in turn retired before the modern magic of Electricity and Edison's incandescent lamp.

OCEAN AIRPORT
WORK STARTED

Large Floating Dock Will Be Installed At Sea;
Cost $1,500,000

New York, Feb. 26.—Oceans flying fields will soon be a reality. Work on the first sea airfield, an intermediate station on the New York-Bermuda course will be started immediately by Henry J. Gielow, Inc., architects.

The sea station will be a floating steel platform 1200 feet long and 400 feet wide, 100 feet above the surface of the water and 300 miles out from shore. A hotel and a restaurant and radio beacon will be erected on the platform. A "ground" crew of 43 men will man the airport on the ocean.

The platform will be anchored to the bottom of the sea with huge steel chains. It will cost $1,500,000 and is expected to be completed this summer.

After the Bermuda line seadrome is tested, others will be constructed, perhaps next fall, for regular transatlantic service, the firm announced.
With a system of eight platforms by way of the Azores, a 34 and a half hour service from New York to Plymouth will be possible, it is said.

LEETONIA

Leetonia chapter No. 253, Order Eastern Star, held a very enjoyable party Friday evening in the chapter rooms for the members and their guests. There were about 85 present.

A unique program was given by the entertainment committee. A duet by Misses Hazel Johnson, and Carol Fisher who sang "Somebody Is Sweet, Is Sweet on Me," and as an encore sang "For Instance," they were accompanied on the piano by Miss Helen Berg. A short play
"An Old Sweetheart of Mine," was given by W. S. Mellinger who was supposedly a young man on the eve of his marriage, reading letters he had received that day. One was signed "An Old Sweetheart of Yours." This started a train of thought, in wondering which sweetheart it was from. The room was darkened and as in his mind each one appeared in a draped form under a bright light. "Betty," was represented by Margaret Redfoot, a young school girl, "Kate," by Hazel
Johnson, "Blanch," by Miss Ruby Wender, "Elizabeth," serious minded girl, was Miss Ada Smith; Miss Berneda Morris in her sweater and skates, was "Mildred"; Miss Helen Berg was "Clara"; "Jeannette," in riding habit, was Miss Ruth Cushing; "Helen," in widow's weeds, was Miss Mary Frances Johnson, and at last, Miss Thelma Weikart, gowned as a bride appeared as "Mary," who was the bride and really "An Old Sweetheart of Mine."

The company drew numbers and were divided, the even numbers on one side and the uneven on the other, contests were then held, the uneven side won in answering questions relative to the nation. Other contests were held and remainder of the evening spent in cards. A lunch was served by the committee. All prizes given were boxes of candy in the form of red cherries.

Miss Mary Kathryn Johnson was a Columbiana caller on Friday forenoon. She went to Lisbon Friday evening and visited over the week end with her friend, Mrs. Edward Sullivan.

Miss Grace Royer left for Canton on Friday morning for a visit in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Knack over the week end.

Mrs. Clarence McDewitt and son Bobby, were in Salem, Friday, guests in the home of the former's sister, Mrs. David Peppel.

Margaret, the eight-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Fish is ill of scarlet fever at their home on Ridge st.

The home of Dr. and Mrs. William Ward is quarantined as their son, Billie, is of scarlet fever.

Mrs. Jessie Bixler of Conneaut, O., is visiting here at the home of her sister, Mrs. Ethel Patterson.

Mrs. C. S. Anglemeyer and daughter, Miss Ruby, were Youngstown visitors on Friday.

Frank Billett, who was thought at first to have been severely injured when his arm was caught in the crusher at the churning plant of the Cherry Valley plant, of the Hanna Furnace company was found to have suffered only severe bruises instead of a crushed arm. He is in Salem City hospital.

Mrs. M. P. Finnick is in the Salem Central Clinic hospital, where she submitted to an operation for appendicitis, and is reported to be getting along well. Mrs. Finnick had an operation for goitre less than a year ago.

The third meeting of the Missionary societies of St. Paul's Lutheran church was held in the home of Mrs. H. C. Brillhart, Tuesday afternoon with an attendance of 21 present. The program was conducted by Mrs. H. C. Brillhart and the Young Women's Missionary society.
The program was as follows: A piano solo by Mrs. F. W. Foiding, who sang "The God of the Nations Is One"; the Scripture readings

cluded form and the meeting closed with the Missionary benediction.

CAR FARE UP
IN COLUMBUS

Light Rates Are Lowered; Savings
Will Run Over Million
Each Year

Columbus, O., Feb. 26.—Residents of this city were faced with an increased street car fare today. Officials of the Columbus Railway Power and Light company, announced that, effective Friday, the present rate will be increased to 10 cents cash and five tickets for 35 cents. The present rate is six cents cash and five tickets for a quarter.
The company holds no franchise with the city, and council are apparently unable to block the increase.

At the same time, the officials announced the reduction of 1 cent per kilowatt hour on the present light and power rates.

NEW EVIDENCE
FOR MASSACRE

Eight Men Took Part In Killing, Is Claim
of Witness

Chicago, Feb. 26.—Eight instead of five were in the murder party that carried out the St. Valentine's day massacre of seven Moran gangsters, according to information at the state attorney's office today.

Three of the killers, two in police uniforms, entered the "Bugs" Moran liquor depot from an alley in the rear. Four entered from Clark st., by the front door. The eighth man remained at the wheel of a car parked near the front door.

This information, regarded as the most important yet revealed, came from a new witness, a man, whose identity and person are being carefully guarded to save him from gangland's vengeance.

Meanwhile investigators were examining late clues which indicate the massacre was accomplished by members of a nation wide ring of kidnapers and extortionists, with strong branches of their organization centered in New York, Detroit, Chicago and St. Louis.

In Chicago the gang rallies under the leadership of Danny Vallo, police say, and is known as the "Valley gang." Vallo's alleged lieutenant is Claude Maddox, who is said to be "contact man" with the St. Louis crowd known as the Egan rats.

The actual killers of the Moran henchmen are said to be wanted in six other cities for gangster murders and the kidnaping of wealthy "racketeers."

Despaired Of Ever Seeing A
Well Day Again

Young Woman Suffered With Catarrh, Had to Go to a Hospital for Treatment

"When they took me to a hospital
I despaired of ever seeing a well day again. For a long time I had suffered from catarrh of the stomach and head and fell off from 137 to 105 pounds. I was so weak that I could not dress myself let alone do anything about the house. I just ached all over. I had to take different kinds of physics every night for my bowels. My stomach was so weak and my digestion so poor I had to live on the lightest of food."

"I suffered all the time with my head and nose stopped up, had dizzy spells and felt so run down I did not care whether I lived or died.
Even my eyes pained me and the pains would extend to the back of my head. I often had choking sensations in my throat and smothering spells of asthma. I could not sleep enough to do any good owing to being choked up with so much mucous, and was so nervous that the slightest noise would cause a nervous chill."

"In this condition I went to the hospital. After a long rest and treatment daily for catarrh, I was then able to get back home. One day a neighbor called and begged me to try World's Tonic. After talking it over that night with my family, they decided that I should start the use of World's Tonic the following day. They purchased three bottles and by the time I had finished the second one I was up and around the house and began to regain my strength. I have used five bottles and I know that my health is as good as in my girlhood days."

"One of my friends called recently and remarked what a wonderful change in a few weeks. I have no sign of catarrh now, my bowels move regularly, my color is good. I can eat anything I want to in the way of solid foods and vegetables and everything tastes so good. Those nervous spells have entirely left me and the mucous has quit coming in my head and throat so now at night I sleep as sound as a baby. I was on the brink of despair and almost a physical wreck from this catarrh but now I am a new woman with new hopes, new life and energy; and I owe it all to World's Tonic."

This is the remarkable story told in a recent letter to the World's Medicine Company office. Many women in this city and vicinity are having the same experience as Mrs.
Sullivan, Richmond, Ind., and just dragging themselves about the house suffering with the worst form of catarrh. All they need is World's Tonic, which will help give them quick and permanent relief.

RADIO STATION
WINS IN COURT

WGY Gets Verdict Which Will Permit Use Of Former Wave

Washington, Feb. 26. — A body blow was struck today at the federal radio commission's power and its entire reallocation system.

The District court of appeals handed down a decision requiring the commission to restore the wave length and frequency channel of Station WGY, Schenectady, N. Y., which the commission, in its reallocation plan, had taken away from WGY and given to Station KGO, of Oakland, Calif., thereby compelling WGY to go on part time.

The case was regarded as the most important piece of radio litigation now in the courts insofar as the commission's powers are concerned.

With this decision as a precedent,
it is now admitted that any station which is dissatisfied with its treatment under the commission's reallocation scheme may go into court and contest the commission's powers.

When the reallocation system was put into effect, the General Electric company, owner of WGY, protested against the commission's taking away WGY's channel, and forcing it to go on a part time basis. An unsuccessful appeal was made to the commission itself, after which the General Electric company decided to go to court.

Charles Evans Hughes was retained to prosecute the case against the commission. He asked an injunction prohibiting the application of the commission's decision to his client. Today's decision gave the General Electric company victory.

Attorneys for the radio commission when informed of the decision today asserted the case would be appealed to the United States supreme court, and that the appeal would automatically operate as a stay.

LADIES!

Don't wave your hair daily—or even every week. Here's a way to keep it wavy for days at a time. BEFORE you use your iron, or curlers, DAMPEN the hair with DANDERINE. Just a few DROPS on comb or towel. Your locks will then behave for a MONTH! Of course, you know what Danderine does to dandruff; it dissolves every speck, within five minutes of rubbing into the scalp. But as a wave preserver on the hair itself, Danderine is a JOY. The best dressing in the world because it doesn't show. Any permanent wave or water wave lasts much longer and looks much nicer when Danderine is used instead of water to "set" the wave.

Ask Your Druggist

Get a bottle of Danderine and start its benefits today. Every drug store in America has it, for only 35c. For the finest dressing you could find, and the best aid to hair health yet discovered, just try—

Jazz Takes Rank With Folk Music of Europe

Henrietta Kamern, Organist, Thinker, Music Patrician

New York City.—Modern American music is not a changing, an ugly duckling left on the doorstep of the twentieth century. The new rhythm is of patrician pedigree, tracing its origin back to the very sources of the earliest music.

This is the opinion of Miss Henrietta Kamern, whose interpretation of jazz on the organ, has won her such recognition in musical circles that she has been engaged by a large theatrical syndicate to direct a new school of organ rhythm.

Coming from a family of Russian musicians with musical ancestors on both maternal and paternal sides as far back as the family history has been traced—and that is over one thousand years—Miss Kamern speaks with authority.

"The modern rhythm is a legitimate evolution of the music of the ages," she declares. "Its new aspect lies in the fact that it is not written down—that it requires a further step in musical imagination to play it."

"Good jazz well written demands far more ingenuity in the playing than do the majority of the classics. It is a music in which there is life and which the player must actually feel to properly interpret.

"Mamma's Grown Young, Papa's Grown Old" is real jazz, which many of the so-called legitimate players could not possibly interpret. In consequence this type of dance music has received severe criticism.

"Lyrics of the type that emulate modern slang which 'Mamma's Grown Young, Papa's Grown Old' does, have been called vulgar, whereas in reality they are nothing but the every day expressions of modern youth, and the people who condemn these lyrics are the very ones who approve operas with salacious lyrics, and all because opera is considered 'classical.' I say it is purely a case of envy when the highbrow musician starts knocking modern music."

"Those musicians who refuse to recognize it as 'legitimate' music are high-browing it simply because they do not know how to play it."

Miss Kamern's mother was the first woman in America to direct a jazz orchestra, and has been leading this orchestra in a New York theatre for eleven years.

car has been offered him by Gen. W. W. Atterbury of the Pennsylvania railroad, but it has not yet been accepted.

Sunday School Is Topic of Address

H. L. Rickett gave the main talk at a meeting of teachers and officers of the Sunday school of the Presbyterian church Monday evening at the church.

Mr. Rickett reviewed the early history of the Sunday school. He is of the opinion that the preparation for the Sunday school teacher is as essential as the required education for a school teacher.

The speaker believes there should be co-operation between the Sunday school and day school if Christianity is to be advanced.

Mr. Rickett's talk lead up to the suggestion of a library for the Sunday school and it was voted to ap-

HOPE ABANDONED BUT NEW KONJOLA BROUGHT HEALTH

For Six Years Ailments Baffled And Defied All Efforts for Relief—Then Came New Medicine

MR. E. C. CRAMER

"I was about to abandon hope of ever getting rid of constipation and indigestion when I discovered in Konjola the medicine I should have had six years ago, when my troubles started," said Mr. E. C. Cramer, West Austintown, a short distance from Youngstown, Ohio.

"Before I realized what was happening, my stomach was totally out of order. Constipation I could not get rid of, except temporarily. Whatever I ate caused intense pain—so bad that, at times I thought it would stop my heart. I could not sleep, became terribly nervous and was losing steadily in weight and strength. All I got from the medicines I tried was to become worse."

"But Konjola surely proved the factor in my case. Six bottles of this medicine completely restored my health. Konjola removed the causes of my trouble, then my stomach improved rapidly. My appetite increased and today, after six weeks of Konjola, I am better than I was six years ago. No recommendation of mine could do Konjola justice. I can understand why it is known as the medicine with more than a million friends."

Konjola is sold in Salem, O., at J. H. Lease drug stores and by all best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—Adv.

FRANCO-BELGIAN PACT ATTACKED

German Leader Scores Nations Entering Agreement

Berlin, Feb. 26.—Press reports that a Franco-Belgian alliance is being formed caused a sensation in Germany today.

Officials claim that, if the report is true, the treaty of alliance would be a "flagrant breach of the Locarno pact."

Newspapers accept the report as true while the same view is reflected in official circles.

Gen. Hans von Seeckt, former commander of the German army expressed the utmost surprise over the possible alliance, saying:

"From a military standpoint the agreement is incomprehensible to me. For the next 25 years France alone would be strong enough simply to overrun disarmed Germany. France does not need an alliance with Belgium."

"Even more incomprehensible to me is the reported plan of invasion of Dutch Limburg. I cannot imagine France and Belgium falling into the same political mistake Germany committed through the Belgian invasion, which damaged her so much in the world's opinion."

"Therefore, from a military viewpoint I cannot believe in the documents which purport to show that the alliance is contemplated."

MISSING MAN IS FOUND IN CREEK

Bullet Hole In Back Indicates That Italian Was Murdered; Police Search For Slayer

New Philadelphia, O., Feb. 26.—With only head and shoulders appearing, the body of John Constantino was found this morning in a small stream a half mile from Dover.

Discovery of the body partially solves the mysterious disappearance of Constantino, an Italian, aged 26, last Friday evening. Leaving his home he told his bride of four months that he was going to a picture show in Dover. Nothing was heard of him after that.

A bullet hole in the back showed Constantino had been murdered. Officials of New Philadelphia and Dover are cooperating in an attempt to solve the crime.

The body, which was in the creek and under a culvert, was discovered by Joe Picco, aged 10.

FLOODS

bridge was washed out. At Marietta and Zanesville, both on the Muskingum river, no flood danger was threatened.

Galion, O., Feb. 26.—With highways near here completely covered by water, as the result of incessant rains recently, and with the water still rising, it was forecasted here today that the great flood of 1913 may be exceeded.

Hamilton, O., Feb. 26.—Heavy rains have swollen the streams in the vicinity of Hamilton to a height greater than at any time since the 1913 flood.

Peck's addition, a lowland adjoining the Miami river south of here, is under water. Terror-stricken residents were removed from their homes.

The seven mile pike, north of Hamilton, has been flooded by Four Mile creek, and many residents of New Miami village left their homes when the water reached the level of their first floors.

Interurban service between Hamilton and Middletown has been suspended due to a washout near Trenton.

The water is higher at Oxford than it has been at any time since 1913.

Marion, O., Feb. 26.—Farmlands were inundated at LaRue, near here today, when the Scioto left its banks. No occasion for alarm was reported here last night, the fall being 23 inches.

Coshocton, O., Feb. 26.—The Muskingum river here was reported three feet above flood stage today due to the tropical-like rain that pelted this section last night and early today. River stage was reported at 11.05 feet, while 8 feet is flood stage. Water encroached on the lowlands.

Columbus, O., Feb. 26.—Water flooded the streets from one to four feet deep here early today as the heavy downpour diminished into a drizzling rain. Creeks in this section were on their seasonal rampage. The river had not reached flood stage. Much damage was reported due to flooded cellars.

Tokdo, O., Feb. 26.—Flood danger is threatening here. Another day's rain would cause a serious flood menace. The Maumee river, though keeping within its banks in most places, inundated lowland districts.

New Philadelphia, O., Feb. 26.—Water a foot deep on the highways made auto travel precarious from this city today. Roads from here to Coshocton, Dover, Canton, and Massillon were inundated in several places. Streams were reported out of their banks and the Tuscarawas river at flood stage.

Springfield, O., Feb. 26.—Factories were forced to suspend operations, roads were flooded, the lowlands swamped and residents of a suburb here were forced to flee from their homes today following the torrential rain in this section here last night. Three feet of water covered the first floor of the American Seeding Machine company plant. Four other plants also suspended operations.

Residents of Lima City, a suburb, were forced to move from their homes during the night. Traffic on the National highway was impeded at Harmony, east of here, by a two-foot torrent of water that rushed across the road for a distance of 200 yards. Many cellars were flooded, doing unestimated damage.

Dayton, O., Feb. 26.—Many homes in the lowlands near here were entirely surrounded by high water following the heavy rain in this section last night. All small streams were on the rampage, but no flood danger exists.

Newark, O., Feb. 26.—Three small streams in this city were out of their banks today and flood conditions were the worst since the epochal 1913 flood. Many houses were isolated and could not be reached except by boat. No serious accidents were reported.

STATE HOSPITAL IS OVERCROWDED

Judge Advised That Conditions At Massillon Institution Have Become Acute

Massillon, Feb. 26.—The Massillon State hospital is overcrowded with patients, and hereafter no patients will be received there unless previous arrangements have been made, according to advice received today from Supt. Arthur G. Hyde by Probate Judge Lodge Riddle.

The same rule applies to all territory served by the Massillon institution or known as the "Massillon state hospital district."

As of Feb. 21, there were 2,562 patients in the Massillon hospital, and this number represented 800 over the capacity of the institution. "Due to this fact we will not be able to accept cases only as we are able to allow patients to leave the hospital," Dr. Hyde has advised the various probate judges.

Plans Underway For County Independent Basketball Series

Three Teams To Compete In Tourney

East Liverpool May Also Enter Competition For Title

Plans were today reported under way for a series between Salem, Columbiana, and Damascus independent basketball teams, for the championship of Columbiana county. East Liverpool, with a classy semi-pro outfit, may also be included in the competition.

Joe M. Kelley, athletic director at the Memorial building, Salem athletic center, is taking charge of this city's representative in the play-off, and announced that a team will be picked from the city league, to be known as the Salem Memorials.

Both Damascus and Columbiana have a classy combination. The Quakers, are this week scheduled to play off a series with the Youngstown Big Y, each team having won one and lost one, while the Franklin Boosters, Columbiana's entrant, have been playing some of the district's toughest aggregations throughout the season.

Rivalry between the three cities is at a high point, each year, and the series will in all probability be welcomed by each. The Boosters have played several Salem teams, and have been defeated only once. Salem and Damascus have not met.

Liverpool, with a collection of former high school and college stars, has what appears to be the strongest team in the county, but has not as yet been approached concerning its entrance into the tourney.

The Salem team will include Les Older, Harry Vogel, Joe Kelley, Herman Litty, Wilbur Springer, and other of the league's leading court-men.

LEETONIA

R. C. Harrold and W. S. Groner enjoyed the winter weather Thursday afternoon back of "San Toy," who can jingle the sleigh bells as well as win the championship as a saddle horse. "San Toy" was adjudged the best horse at the show held last September by the Mill Creek Driving club of Youngstown and also holds several other championship ribbons won at Canfield, Cleveland and other cities.

The Parent-Teachers association will hold its February meeting this evening at 7:30 in the Home Economics room at the North Side building with the following program: Community singing; music; the Prior family; vocal duet, Misses Carol Fisher and Hazel Johnson; discussions, "School and Home," Miss Frances Gintner; "Home and School," Mrs. Nellie Conrad; open discussion. A social hour will follow the business meeting. A prize of $2.00 will be given for the grade having the largest percentage of parents and adults representing the grade.

The annual party of the Thursday Reading club was held on Thursday at the home of Mrs. Elmer Harrold on East Columbia st. with Mrs. S. R. Fellows, and Mrs. Ethel Patterson as associate hostesses. The affair was a luncheon served at 1 p. m. with an afternoon of entertainment. The three-course luncheon was served at small tables each one centered with a rosebud in a bud vase. The favors were red, white and blue hatchets, with a cluster of artificial red cherries and green leaves fastened to the hatchets. At each plate was placed a red miniature holder filled with salted almonds, the rooms were tastefully decorated in cream roses, white carnations and sweet peas. In the afternoon there were two contests, one a historical one in which Mrs. Paul H. Beaver was the winner; Mrs. P. R. Rauch won in the musical contest. The company numbering 23, were then taken into a darkened room and shown a large number of pictures which were thrown on a screen by Mr. Harrold who explained each one telling where taken and its history. The first one shown was the picture of a cherry tree in bloom; then followed the pictures of Mt. Vernon, the home of George Washington; the elm tree under which the peace treaty was signed by the United States and Great Britain. There were numerous pictures taken by Mr. Harrold in his travels from every state in the Union, in Washington, D. C. and many in this vicinity of pretty views, birds and wild flowers. Every one of the members with the exception of Mrs. George R. Johnson of Pittsburgh, who is ill, were present. Mrs. W. D. McKee, an honorary member was also present, as were the following guests: Mrs. Jessie Bixler of Conneaut; Mrs. Charles McElroy and Mrs. A. F. Woods of Youngstown, the latter two are sisters of Mrs. Harrold and Mrs. Bixler was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Ethel Patterson.

The Independent club was pleasantly entertained by Mrs. William Andler on Thursday evening in her country home on the South Side. The evening was enjoyed in needlework and visiting. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Edward Sauverwine.

The Mission Study class of the Young Women's Missionary society held its meeting Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Lester Lehman. The book discussed was "Cappi Firas on the Congo." After the book review, refreshments were served by the hostess.

Mrs. Mabel Mortimer of Salem, visited in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Emil Holz over Wednesday night and Thursday morning.

Crucial Court Games Slated At Salem Gym

McArtor Florists to Meet Junior Saxons In First Contest

Electric furnace courtment and Salem Business College quintet, two of the teams involved in the extensive entanglements of the first half in city league competition, will tangle tonight, in the feature loop fracas scheduled for the Memorial gym this week.

The Furnace-College game is looked to start promptly following the finish of the opener, which clashes Perry McArtor's Florists combination and the strengthened Junior Saxons. Each game appears to have much to do with the way things will turn out at the close of the second half, early in the schedule as they may be.

In a meeting of the city league board last week, it was voted that Danny Willaman and Pete Harsh, two players not connected with any of the other six teams, should be placed on the Saxons' roster. Harsh, a member of the Bethany, W. Va., college varsity, until he quit school, is considered one of the neatest defensive players ever developed at Salem High and was a member of the outfit, which in 1927, carried the Red and Black to fame at the Columbus state interscholastic tourney.

The Seiberling Tires, champions of the opening half, made a bid for Harsh, placing him on their player's list, but it was agreed that the Tires needed no strengthening. None of the other four teams, tied for the top berth at the close of the regular schedule of the first half was permitted any new players.

The addition of Willaman and Harsh to the Saxons will give the league six strong teams, and make competition even keener than during the first three months of action.

Another affair of crucial nature is slated for Thursday night when the champion Tires meet the Furnace. The United Cigars stack up against the Prints Club in the second game that evening. The complete schedule follows:

Feb. 26—Flowers vs Saxons; Furnace vs College.

Feb. 28—Tires vs Furnace; Cigars vs Prints.

March 5—Flowers vs College; Furnace vs Saxons.

March 7—Tires vs Cigars; Prints vs College.

March 12—Flowers vs Prints; College vs Tires.

March 14—Furnace vs Cigars; Saxons vs Tires.

March 19—Flowers vs Tires; Furnace vs Prints.

March 21—College vs Cigars; Saxons vs Prints.

March 22—Saxons vs Cigars.

Here is the schedule for the rest of the church league:

March 4—Kiwanis vs Methodists; Lutherans vs St. Paul.

March 11—Lutherans vs Methodists; Kiwanis vs St. Paul.

March 18—Kiwanis vs Lutherans; Methodists vs St. Paul.

Sharkey-Strib Go Wednesday

Miami Beach, Fla., Feb. 26.—Jack Sharkey of Boston and W. L. (Young) Stribling of Macon, Ga., will climb through the ropes at Flamingo park arena tomorrow night and exchange lefts and rights before the swankiest audience that ever witnessed a boxing contest in this country.

Peering at them will be more than the six hundred millionaires that Madison Square Garden, New York, has so often proudly boasted of. There surely will be at least 1000 millionaires in the arena tomorrow night. For every train that rolled into Miami today disgorged men whose bank rolls are something to conjure with.

Not only that, but at the ringside will be as representative a gathering of the press as ever has pounded typewriters beneath the glare of the arc lights of a prize ring. More than 400 sports writers, the very best in the country, are on the scene and they are almost as keyed up for the event as if it were a championship bout.

"I am strong for Luckies."

John Gilbert
John Gilbert
Celebrated Screen Star

"Motion picture actors are under a great strain—they need the comforting qualities of a good cigarette. That is why most of us smoke Lucky Strike. The marvelous toasted flavor of Luckies brings complete enjoyment and relaxation but does not hurt the throat or wind. I am strong for Luckies—they are the 'stars' of the cigarette picture. I would rather have a Lucky after a meal than rich pastries or desserts."

JOHN GILBERT

The modern common sense way—reach for a Lucky instead of a fattening sweet. Everyone is doing it—men keep healthy and fit, women retain a trim figure. Lucky Strike, the finest tobaccos, skillfully blended, then toasted to develop a flavor which is a delightful alternative for that craving for fattening sweets.

Toasting frees Lucky Strike from impurities. 20,679 physicians recognize this when they say Luckies are less irritating than other cigarettes. That's why folks say: "It's good to smoke Luckies."

Note: Authorities attribute the enormous increase in Cigarette smoking to the improvement in the process of Cigarette manufacture by the application of heat. It is true that during 1928, Lucky Strike Cigarettes showed a greater increase than all other Cigarettes combined. This surely confirms the public's confidence in the superiority of Lucky Strike.

"THE CASE OF LENA SMITH"
It took Josef von Sternberg, himself, to make a picture to surpass his world-famous masterpieces, "Underworld," "The Last Command," "The Drag Net" and "The Docks of New York." His great triumph, "The Case of Lena Smith," which opened last night at the State theatre, and it is von Sternberg at his finest.

None of his former great pictures has had the variety, the lavishness, the great emotional power of this story of a Hungarian girl's fight for her child. It has the universal appeal of motherhood portrayed with all the reality for which this director is famous.

In the superb emotional role of Lena Smith, Esther Ralston has truly the finest characterization of her career on the screen. It has depth and power. Starting with a prologue in 1914, the scene goes back to the girlhood of a mother, who watches her son march off to war. It pictures her love affair, her struggles, her sufferings and sacrifices for her son and the picture ends where it began.

An excellent cast supports Miss Ralston, chief of whom is that popular young actor, James Hall. Fred Kohler has another important role and such well known players as Lawrence Grant, Gustav von Seyffertitz and Emily Fitzroy are in the cast.

A wealth of research went into the making of "The Case of Lena Smith," and the Vienna scenes of 1894 are particularly enlightening and interesting.

Picture fans who like dramatic, thrilling film fare, will surely find the new Pathe picture, "Ned McGobb's Daughter," vastly to their taste. The picture which features Irene Rich, Robert Armstrong, Theodore Roberts and George Barrard in the principal roles, will be on view at the Grand theater tonight.

Thrilling moments are in store for spectators when the action reveals several mysterious trucks speeding along the roads during the night hours. Suspense will attend the activities of the federal enforcement officers, who plan an adroit ambush. Sympathy will go out to Carrie Callahan, daughter of Ned McGobb, to whom honor and allegiance to law had been a religion, when she is compelled by her loyalty to be an unwilling partner in the maze of illegal comings and goings.

"Ned McGobb's Daughter" presents an absorbing study in character as revealed by actions rather than the surface appearance of men and women. Its leading character is a woman of beauty and staunch worth, fitting daughter of a brave and honest father. Shaping the events of her life are two brothers, one ex-convict husband, concealing dishonesty and a yellow streak under pseudo respectability, ready to sacrifice anyone or anything to save himself—the other a bootlegger, who breaks the laws of the land with a grin, but holds fast to his own code of honor.

Action is Swift-moving
The murder of a prohibition officer by George Callahan after a desperate fight in a cellar, the hiding of the body in an apple-filled crib, the arrival of the enforcement agents and their search of the cellar for liquor and the near discovery of the crime, the run running episode in which one of Babe Callahan's gang is seriously wounded, the kidnapping of Carrie's two children by the dissolute father in the hope that the agents will not fire at the truck, their rescue by Babe after a thrilling race in the night and the final capture of the bootleggers, all combine to make the picture one that will not soon be forgotten.

STYLE EDICTS

Paris, Feb. 26.—Spring furs, like the winter ones, will be of the slimming variety, for however beautiful a pelt may be, it can never please the smart woman today unless it has all of the slenderizing qualities. Rich thick furs will be seen only as trimming, and then only about the neck and cuffs, never around the bottom.

Bretschwanz and caracul are among the most favored skins in the spring collections. They come in beige and grey, sometimes with fox or fluffy lynx for trimming. Astrakhan in grey or beige, tawny or flying squirrel are also popular.

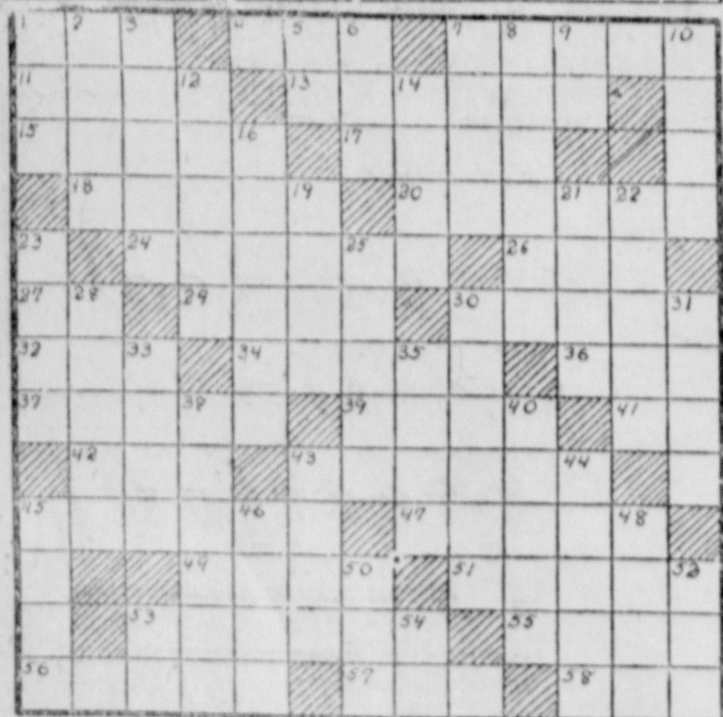

A smart afternoon coat is trimmed with long collar and double cuffs of beige fox. On another in beige bretschwanz there is a trace of "flou" produced by the flared flounce at the bottom and the introduction of a small pleat at the side. It is cut in diagonal line across the back to the pleat which is placed fairly low down near the left side. The same effect is on the sleeves which are cut down the center with braid put on to accentuate the line.

THE HOME KITCHEN

By Jeannette Young Norton

The Informal Wedding Luncheon
For the informal, early afternoon home wedding many people are reverting to the old order of things and preceding the ceremony with a seated luncheon for the two immediate families. The guests usually numbering less than 12. The bride, being dressed in traveling gown and hat, makes it an informal affair. The simplest table arrangements is best and should depend upon the central floral arrangement for its attractive appearance. Center runner and cross runners, embroidered and lace edged, ferns and bride roses in the center, flat silver, pretty service plates and glassware, and the table is set. No candles should be used unless the room is very dark.

Menu
Oyster Cocktails
Bouillon
Broiled Squab, Broiled Potatoes
Stuffed Baked Tomatoes
Tiny Hot Rolls
Olives Celery
Apple and Celery Salad
Toasted Crackers and Cheese
Ice Cream Wedding Cake
Coffee

This five-course menu is not too elaborate for preparation in the home kitchen and is not unduly expensive. The ice cream, if purchased, may be as elaborate as desired. A molen shaped mould of French vanilla filled with a fruit mousse or with brandied fruits, or with any other cream center, is delightful, eaten with or without a rich chocolate or butterscotch sauce. The wedding cake may be cut by the bride, then served generally.

The oysters should be served in the shells on a bed of cracked ice, with the glass of the cocktail sauce in the center. Lemon quarters may be arranged about the edge of the dish on sprays of watercress. The sauce, instead of the usual tomato mixture, may be a chilled bodied dressing, with a few capers in it, or it may be a Russian dressing made little sharper. This may be accomplished by using a small quantity of vinegar instead of the softer lemon juice.

The usual bouillon should be hot in cups with a teaspoonful of whipped cream on top, and a short, small bread stick lying across the saucer. The broiled squab and potatoes may be garnished on the plate with sprays of cream, the stuffed baked tomato supplying the colorful effect. These should not be baked too soft, for then they won't hold their shape. The hot biscuits on hot plates should be in circulation during this course. The relishes should include olives with pimento, almond and celery fillings. Tiny moulds of mint jelly should be beside the squab on the plates.

The salad may be as dressed up as one wishes to make it, that is, it may be served in the pepper shells and be garnished with olive curls spread with anchovy paste, white of egg cut in fancy shapes, the yolks made into highly seasoned little balls, and sprays of watercress on the side. Or the mayonnaise may be colored delicate green or pink and toasted almonds may be used for garnish with ripe olives. Toasted crackers and Rochefort cheese go best with this salad.

If desired, in place of the bouillon, a fish ramekin dish, a lobster Newburg, creamed oysters in the baked bread cases, creamed sweetbreads, or broiled fish in moulds with a fancy sauce can be used.

Again in place of the squab, in case they are not available or liked, the broiled chicken may be used. Broiled sweetbreads and peas are also a good substitute. There is no rule except it must not be a heavy meat. With the bird a tiny French sausage is served as a flavoring feature, or a tiny rolled slice of baked ham.

The ice cream must be cut so that each portion has some of the fancy filling. Sometimes a half brandied peach is placed on the dish when there is no sauce used, or a bit of jellied quince, or jellied green almonds. Candy flowers are the only garnish used on the ice cream. Cafe au lait is often liked at this time of day better than the strong coffee.

Taking the Gloom Out of Rainy Days in the Nursery

Rainy days will come. And they frequently bring unrest with them. Children crave new amusements and mothers must be inventive to cope with the gloom of the weather. Children feel the restraint of having to stay indoors and they are unhappy and make all others feel the same way. It may seem like a real task to keep them occupied, but a little forethought on your part will save you much worry and keep the little ones in joyous mood.

Children love to help about the house, a nuisance to busy mothers unless it can be turned to account. Get them small tools and implements and give them jobs to do. Some boys like to sweep, clean up closets and so on, little girls prefer washing dolls' clothes and hanging them on a line while mother is busy. Children love to dress up and it is a wise mother who keeps some clothes, hats and other articles of apparel in the closet for this purpose.

A box couch is always invaluable to a nursery for it plays many parts in the day—boat, train, auto, and even an aeroplane in the games. If there is room for the sand box it always amuses. Scrap book pasting is always fun. Make the books out of glazed cinnabar, buttinholing the edges of the leaves with bright wadded. Gay pictures from seed catalogues, fashion pages of magazines and papers offer material, and many of the former may be cut and mounted for the paper dolls' house. Clay modeling always holds a charm for children who have had kindergarten experience. A wall blackboard is also amusing.

Games of all kinds are endless in variety and those that allow several players are worth having on hand. Nursery floor croquet, finds many admirers for the game always appeals. Ring toss is another favorite. One mother hit upon the idea of having a rainy day grab bag which made her youngsters long for a rainy day now and then. She invested in a number of unusual toys and inexpensive things out of the ordinary. Well wrapped and tucked into a black bag with gay streamers, they were brought forth when things were dull and quiet and made lots of merriment. Never allowed to get too well acquainted with the bag and its mysterious quality, it always retained its charm for the children.

The tea party is another unfailing pleasure on a dull afternoon. Maybe the children can make the little cakes or some candy for the spread, which always adds materially to the fun. Save spoons and candy boxes, which make excellent trains on occasion, while cigar boxes are splendid for dump carts. Pasteboard furniture has its appeal, especially if it can be painted with water colors or even crayons. The doll's patchwork quilt will keep little girls busy for long periods just learning to sew. A clothes basket boat may line, and it may be rigged with a sail also. It is the homemade toys that can be made over and altered to fill the need of the moment that give the most fun. This is the experience of most mothers and with forethought the playthings may be saved from the various sources and treasured for just these dull rainy days.

Two or three cheap low screens can be used for houses and stores, while a few old shawls or pieces of old curtains make partitions with the aid of a few pins and a bit of string. If we mothers will only help the gloom may be effectively taken out of rainy days.

When Pain Comes

Two hours after eating

What many people call indigestion very often means excess acid in the stomach. The stomach nerves have been over-stimulated, and food sour. The corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes acids instantly. And the best alkali known to medical science is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained the standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

One spoonful of this harmless, tasteless alkali in water will neutralize instantly many times as much acid, and the symptoms disappear at once. You will never use crude methods when once you learn the efficiency of this. Go get a small bottle to try.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids; 25c and 50c a bottle—any drug store.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875. Adv.

Wales Won't Sell This Horse

The Prince of Wales is selling his racing stable, that is, all but "just an idea."
